"The best performers have a coach. You deserve one too."

-- Theresa M. Szczurek

If you wanted to attain your best athletic performance you'd hire a coach. Lance Armstrong wouldn't have won the Tour de France an amazing seven times – and come out of retirement at the age of 37 – without his coach, Chris Carmichael.

Attaining your best business, career, and life performance requires the same kind of planning, support and training regimen.

Why not "work out" and build your business "muscle" with a PRO? Someone who's been there and has a track record of launching a startup which six years later sold for over $40 million, real experience climbing the corporate ladder in a large firm, years of consulting and coaching with companies large and small helping them produce measurable results, and an Amazon-bestselling book based on a proven "Pursuit of Passionate Purpose" formula.

That's me. Theresa Szczurek, CEO of Technology and Management Solutions, LLC.

Normally when I go into a company to consult on strategic planning and execution, market development, people and process alignment, and organization and individual development, I charge thousands of dollars. My clients tell me it's well worth the investment. When I work with you online in a group or individual setting I can bring the price down to meet your needs.

I'm so sure you'll be delighted with your coaching experience that I'm offering a MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE. If you are not completely satisfied, I will refund every penny of your investment. It is completely RISK FREE.

But you must act now. These introductory prices won't last.

In order to best meet your needs, we offer three programs: Group, Individual, and Custom. Let me help you get your business, career, and life in shape. Start coaching with Theresa Szczurek and the TMS team.

Live your passions,
Theresa
