Technology and Management Solutions Helps iCAST Refine Its Strategic Plan

Management Consultants Help Non-Profit Firm Build Roadmap for Its Future

Boulder, Colo. (May 27, 2008)— Technology and Management Solutions, LLC, a Boulder-based management consulting firm headed by Theresa M. Szczurek, has been engaged by iCAST (International Center for Appropriate and Sustainable Technology), a Colorado non-profit 501(c)(3) corporation headquartered in Lakewood, CO, to guide iCAST's most recent strategic business planning and execution program. Theresa M. Szczurek, TMS president and CEO, facilitated a process among the staff and Board of Directors to create the latest iCAST strategic plan, implement a system for executing the plan, and help iCAST better manage its exponential growth.

"Technology and Management Solutions has done an amazing job in moving us forward. Theresa Szczurek invested extensive time and talent into helping iCAST re-define its growth strategy and begin to execute it. As experts at strategic planning and helping fast growing ventures succeed, TMS provided great value in establishing a clear direction and roadmap for iCAST's future," said Ravi Malhotra, iCAST executive director and founder.

International Center for Appropriate and Sustainable Technology (iCAST), a Colorado 501(c)(3) non profit corporation, helps economically disadvantaged communities implement sustainable development solutions. Deploying a Service Learning model which uses university students as interns on its projects, iCAST helps communities utilize local resources to provide economic, environmental, and social benefits while educating people committed to sustainability.
